NAPANEE, FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1894.

THE EXPERTS ARE RELIABLE.

Gardner Has Every Faith in Them—No Adjournment For the Derby.

LONDON, June 6.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Arnold Foster asked the Government if they had received any official information in regard to the alleged dissatisfaction of Canadian cattle owners with the conduct of the examinations of cattle by English experts, it having been asserted that they were not altogether disinterested.

Rt. Hon. Herbert Gardner, President of the Board of Agriculture, said that the Government had no such information. He had seen such statements in the newspapers, but he himself had every confidence in the integrity of the experts.

John W. Maclur, Conservative, moved that the House adjourn over Derby Day. The motion was rejected by 246 to 160.

NOT CONTAGIOUS PLEURO.

Sir Charles Tupper's Expert Declares the Cattle Simply suffered From Exposure.

LONDON, June 6.—Being dissatisfied with the examination of Canadian cattle by the Government experts, who reported that the symptoms present in the lungs of cattle examined were such as were always present in cases of contagious pleuropneumonia, Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, engaged the eminent expert, Prof. Hunting, to conduct an independent examination. Prof. Hunting has reported that the cases of alleged pleuropneumonia are precisely similar to those examined by him a year ago, and are simply pneumonia contracted on the voyage from exposure and not infectious.

The agents-general of the colonies of New South Wales and Tasmania have received special instructions to co-operate with and assist the other colonies in their protest against the proposed creation of

THE CASE OF EDITOR ELLIS.

MR. DAVIES MOVES HIS LONG-PROMISED RESOLUTION.

He Would Have the House Say That Returning Officer Dunn Violated the Law and That the Judges Deserve Censure for Imprisoning and Fining John V. Ellis.

OTTAWA, June 6.—Hon. Mr. Daly introduced his bill to amend the Fisheries Act and also the Dominion Irrigation Act. On motion to go into Committee of Supply Mr. Davies made his long-talked-of motion on the Ellis case, arising out of the Queen's County election case in 1887.

Mr. Davies spoke at great length, reviewing all the circumstances of the return of Mr. Baird by Returning Officer Dunn of the articles published by Ellis in The St. John Globe, which he read, and of his imprisonment for contempt and concluded a rather violent speech by moving the following amendment to the motion to go into supply:

That in the opinion of this House the action of Returning Officer Dunn in refusing to return George G. King, who had polled a large majority of the votes at an election duly held, and in returning Mr. George F. Baird, the minority candidate, instead, was a gross violation of law and justice, a wicked and indefensible outrage upon the rights of the electors of Queen's County, New Brunswick, and a precedent pregnant with such danger to the future political government of Canada as to have demanded and justified on the part of the newspaper press the severest possible condemnation and censure;

That in the further opinion of this House, the jurisdiction claimed by the judges of the Superior Courts of Record of punishing by fine and commitment to prison for constructive contempt being practically arbitrary and unlimited and exercised by judges, who are at the same time judges of the law, of the fact of the intention and of the sentence, and whose decisions are given without the aid of a jury and without being subject to review is opposed to the genius and spirit of constitutional liberty and ought never to be exercised where any other pertinent remedy can be found or recourse had to any other method of obtaining justice;

That the punishment inflicted by the Supreme Court of New Brunswick upon John V. Ellis in the month of October, 1893, for an alleged constructive contempt of court contained in articles published by him on the Queen's County election case referred to was arbitrary, excessive, and a blot on the public interest, and does is a disgrace, and in so far as it added to the fine and imprisonment without precedent.

Mr. Hazen replied, speaking up to 6 o'clock, and continuing for about an hour after. He was followed by Mr. Fraser in support of the amendment and Messrs. Baird and Weldon, who opposed it.

Mr. Gilmor made a few remarks to the effect that too much had been said already about the Queen's election case, and Mr. Mills moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 11.30.

Holloway's Pills.

Impurities of the Blood.—To ensure health it is absolutely necessary, that the fluid and solids of the human body should be kept free from those impurities which are continually getting admission into the system by erroneous living, unwholesome atmosphere, or disordered stomach. The only safe and certain way to expel all impurities is to take Holloway's Pills, which have the power of cleansing the blood from all noxious matters, and at the same time removing any irregularities which their presence may have already produced in any organ. To take Holloway's Pills expels all humours which taint or impoverish the blood, which they purify and invigorate, and give general tone. They are applicable to all alike—young or old, robust or delicate.

FOUND DEAD BENEATH THE BRIDGE.

An Unknown Cripple Meets With a Terrible Death at Lambton Mills—Accident or Suicide?

TORONTO, June 6.—Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock an unknown man was found dead underneath the C.P.R. bridge at Lambton Mills by John Bannon and a lad named William Clayton.

On May 11 a man on crutches, with the right leg cut off at the hips, appeared at J. M. Scott's hotel, Lambton Mills.
He gave his name as Peter Anderson, saying he was a telegraph operator at the Union Station, that he had been on a spree and would remain a few days. He is not known at the Union Station.

The last seen of the dead man at the hotel was on Sunday about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when he borrowed a book, saying he would go to the park near by to read.
He was afterward seen sitting on the south side of the bridge reading the book. As the track is quite close to the side at which he was seated, it is thought that he had become frightened at the approach of a train and fell off, as no marks were found as though a train struck him.

Another theory is that the man, being in a melancholy mood, went to the bridge and jumped off with the intention of committing suicide.

Chicago Saloon Wrecked By a Bomb.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Somebody threw a dynamite bomb into the saloon of Charles Noffz, 183 Eighteenth-street, last night, wrecking the entire front of the building and badly smashing things inside. Noffz and his bartender, Frank Hoeler, were cut by flying pieces of wood and glass. Noffz thinks the bomb was thrown by an enemy of his family.

Two years ago I had a bad attack of biliousness and took one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and can truly recommend it to anyone suffering from this complaint.

Singular Death in Toronto.

TORONTO, June 6.—Mr. Joseph W.
Spence died very suddenly at his residence, 10 Prince Arthur-avenue, at 6 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Spence had been ill for nearly a month past with a slight trouble of the lungs, but was at business as usual yesterday. He left his office for home at 5 o'clock, and feeling very ill he immediately went to bed and died shortly after.

Owing to the peculiar circumstances and suddenness of his death, Coroner Johnson has ordered a post-mortem examination to be held this morning pending an inquest.

A HELLHOUND IN PITTSBURG.

Fiendishly Assaults His Five-Year-Old stepdaughter—Lynching Too Good for Him.

PITTSBURG, June 6.—Zen Krider abused his 5-year-old stepdaughter Zenie Snowden in a manner to excite the envy of a barbarian. During the temporary absence of the child's mother yesterday Krider beat Zenie over the back and shoulders with a poker, pulled two great bunches of hair from her head, raised her to the ceiling of the room by the feet, dropped her to the floor and then kicked the unconscious child in the pit of the stomach.
When Mrs. Krider returned and attempted to care for her injured baby the brutal fiend threatened to kill her with a knife and drove her from the house.
Krider made no resistance when arrested.
Preparations were at once begun to lynch him. At the magistrate's office Krider entered a plea of guilty in order to be hurried to jail. There is an insurance of $300 on the little girl's life, and it is believed Krider was anxious to have her die in order to get the money.

St. Mary's Bay in the southeastern part of the island. St. Mary's Bay is directly

CHOLERA IN EUROPE.

Falling Off in Galicia, But Dangerous on the Russian Frontier.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Official reports just received by the Marine Hospital Service as to the general cholera situation in Europe are somewhat reassuring so far as regards those parts of Europe towards which the tide of American summer travel tends.

There is a decided falling off of the epidemic of cholera in Eastern Galicia, the last report showing only four cases and two deaths, the total to date being 39 cases and 17 deaths. As regards Skala and Sikler-zynce, the Galician towns, both near the Austro-Russian frontier, in which cholera now prevails, it should be stated that the drinking water used by the people comes from a polluted river.
There are no wells or springs. The situation along the Russian frontier may be regarded as dangerous owing to the number of centres of infection.

In Constantinople the condition of the epidemic varies greatly from week to week, but on the whole may be considered as greatly ameliorated. It is believed the dissemination of cholera in Turkey is chiefly due to transport ships conveying Turkish troops from point to point. The accounts of the epidemic at Lisbon are very conflicting.

Four Killed in a Fight With Troops.

SULLIVAN, Ind., June 6.—Reports from Farmersburg say the militia had a running fight with the strikers during the night, killing four men.

News has also been received here that the strikers are burning railroad bridges.
Herbert and Sam Woolsey, coal operators, have just come in from Shelbyville to escape a mob of miners that were after them with a rope.

Col. Ross has arrived from the South with five companies of troops. They are waiting here for orders, and will probably join

THE SUGAR SCHEDULE PASSED.

Sugar Made Dutiable At 40 F. C. Ad Valorem From January Next.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The sugar schedule was completed in the Senate yesterday after an intensely exciting and interesting struggle, the Democratic majority carrying out its program on every point.
The fight for the greater part of the day was, as it had been during the preceding four days, over the proposition to postpone the time when the repeal of the sugar bounty is to take effect from July 1, 1894, to Jan. 1, 1895. It was carried by a vote of 38 to 31, then various amendments which were offered by Senator Manderson all being voted down with slightly varying majorities against them—the two Populist senators, Allen and Kyle, and the New York Senator Hill, voting now on one side and now on the opposite side. An amendment for free sugar was offered by Mr. Peffer and was rejected —yeas 26, nays 37.

Finally the amendment of the Finance Committee, or rather the Jones modification of it, was agreed to—yeas 35, nays 28; and the sugar schedule was completed. The bill provides for a duty of 40 per cent. ad valorem on all sugars, with additions where they are above No. 16 Dutch standard, and this duty is to go into effect on Jan. 1, 1895.

The Reserve Fund of the Bank now amounts to one million five hundred thousand dollars, being equal to its paid-up capital.
Your Directors would recommend that for the future dividends be paid quarterly, commencing on the first day of August next, and they hope the profits of the Bank will enable the payment of three per cent. quarterly, equal to twelve per cent. per annum. This will be a convenience to the many small shareholders of the Bank, to whom quarterly dividends will be a great accommodation.
The Directors are sure that the Shareholders will join with them in congratulating Sir Frank Smith, our Vice-President, on the well-deserved honor recently conferred upon him by Her Majesty.

The President, Mr. James Austin, and the Vice-President, Sir Frank Smith, are the only surviving Directors of the original Board of the Bank. The General Manager, Mr. E. H. Bethune, has been its chief Executive officer since the day it opened.

J. AUSTIN, President.

THE PHOENIX PARK MURDERS,

PARNELL WAS IGNORANT OF THE EXISTENCE OF THE INVINCIBLES.

A Counterblast To the Exposures Made By Number One - Informer Carey Secured His Pardon By Leading the Government To Believe He Could Implicate Parnell.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Quietly living with her son and daughter in a little flat at the top of a four-story brown stone house at 194 Waverly-place is a woman who in the days of the Land League and "Invincible" organization played a leading part in the drama which culminated in the assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke. Her name is Marguerite Moore. Mrs. Moore was said to have carried from London to Dublin the knives which were driven into the bodies of Cavendish and Burke by Joseph Brady and Timothy Kelly. For nearly a year The London Times tried to find her in hope that she might be able to implicate Parnell in the Phoenix Park tragedy. The British Government tried to procure her extradition, but failed. She was the wife of a professional man in Waterford, where she became associated with the ladies' branch of the Land League movement, which was headed by Miss Anna Parnell. Mrs. Moore's fervid speeches in the cities of Great Britain advanced her into the front rank of agitators. Chief Secretary Forster, "The Buckshot" of land leaguers' decision, considered her so important that in March, 1882, he caused her arrest while she was addressing a meeting at Frankfurt, and she spent six months in Tullamore Jail.

Mrs. Moore knows something about P. J. Tynan, "Number One," and she also knows a little about the origin of the "Invincibles." "Tynan arrogates rather too much authority on himself," said Mrs. Moore to-day while discussing Tynan's book. "His share in the Invincible organization was a minor one. The real heads of the movement, the organizers of the attack on Forster's life, which failed, and the attack on the lives of Cavendish and Burke, which succeeded, were Frank Byrne, an intimate associate of Mr. Parnell; John W. Walsh, known as 'Stockport,' and Edmund O'Donovan. All three are now dead, and so I need have no hesitation in giving their names.

"But when he tries to suggest, as he does in the published story, that Parnell or Dillon or Healy or Redmond or Harrington or Davitt was cognizant of this conspiracy or knew anything about it he says that which is not the truth. I know," and Mrs. Moore laid a peculiar emphasis on the "know." "I know that Parnell, at least, was innocent. Why I know this must remain for the present untold, because I should only involve some who are still living. It has never been known that when the news of the Phoenix Park murders was telegraphed to England Parnell nearly fell in a faint. The message was not half an hour old when, overwhelmed with horror and shame, he called a meeting of his associates and tendered his resignation as leader of the Irish Party, declaring his intention to retire from politics. Only when it was reported to him that the cause of Ireland would be irredeemably damaged by this action did he at last withdraw it."

"Why then did he sit silent under Mr. Forster's terrible indictment in the House of Commons?"

"Because he knew," as he himself said, "that his denial in the House of Commons would have no effect whatever on the condition of the English public minds. Forster's arraignment of Parnell proves one thing above all others—that he knew of the conspiracy against his life by the 'Invincible Brotherhood'—knew that the attempt to kill him was to be made on a certain day. He knew the hour and the minute of the attack, and had made all preparations to meet it. Yet, knowing all this, he went out of office, withdrew the guard from Phoenix Park and allowed his successor, Lord Cavendish, to come into office without warning, ignorant and unprepared. James Carey, the informer, who met such a tragic death at the hands of O'Donovan, gave Tynan the credit of organizing the Phoenix Park murders, and so far as I can tell he may be right. I was in Tullamore Jail at that time and so could prove a complete alibi.

"But Tynan acted under the direction of his superiors, who looked on him as a good deal of a sham. Byrne says this much in a letter to Walsh, and his remarks apply also to Parnell."

and not want him. He was their last resource. Brady, Kelly, Fagan and Gaffney were the four men implicated directly in the murder by Carey's confession. For many weeks before the Government called on Carey they moved heaven and earth through their creature Bolton, the Crown prosecutor, to persuade Brady and Kelly, the actual assassins, to turn Queen's evidence. Brady, urged by the governor of the jail, by the specially picked wardens, by attorneys and spies, came near weakening, but his mother went to the jail and begged him not to betray the society. "I'll take the rope first," said he, and he did. Then they tried Tim Kelly, but he gave up his life, too. The Government would not have accepted Carey but for a skilful trick he played on them. While negotiations were in progress Carey suggested by broad hints that he could give evidence enough to implicate Parnell in the murders. This bait caught them when nothing else would have served his purpose. Carey received his pardon and convicted the men whom he had led into the net. But he never told anything that would implicate Parnell or any of the Irish leaders and fooled the Government completely.

"Mrs. Frank Byrne carried the knives that were used from Paris to London and a man and a woman took them from London to Dublin. Once more I want to say that Parnell was always ignorant of the existence of the Invincible Society until it became known to him by Carey's confession."

FLOODS IN THE FRAZER VALLEY.

Stories of Death and Devastation Coming in Fast.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 4.—Via San Francisco, June 5.—The Frazer River is still rising. The railroad officials say that the worst will come about Wednesday. One can only surmise what is meant by "worst," as the list of disasters is most appalling already. Every one in this vicinity has turned pessimist. No one is hopeful. Every morning for two weeks it has been the same story, "The water is still rising," and desolation and death are following in the wake of the tireless tide of destruction. Yesterday the rescue steamers took on board 23 men secured from the trees and the roofs of houses. These people had not slept or tasted food for four days. As the train was passing 20 miles east of Yale a Chinaman tied to a sluice box was seen frantically waving his hand for help. Later his dead body, still tied to the sluice box, was found lower down the river.

It is reported that the bodies of two children, one a little girl with the body of a pet lamb clasped in her arms, were seen in the branches of a huge floating tree. Stories of death and destruction are coming in fast.

Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo are the only towns in British Columbia not affected by floods. Westminster City suffers heavily. Tramways are flooded out and half the city is inundated. The city is also suffering from a meat famine. Chilliwack town is now all under water, and there are a thousand families destitute. On Sunday it was a touching sight to see a hundred canoes propelled by Indians filing from the door of the church at that place. The fathers of the city anchored their canoes to their pews and prayed for God to deliver them from the great devastation caused by the flood and provide for them each day their daily bread.

On Wednesday will come the highest tide, and it is feared there will not be enough boats to hold the residents of Chilliwack. At Mission City only a few houses are left standing and inhabited, and into these are crowded the entire population of the town. The suffering is very great and most of the inhabitants are living on one meal a day. The water at Mission is reported to be rising rapidly. If the water goes two feet higher, appalling disaster is feared in this section. The women of British Columbia proved themselves heroines when the occasion called for it. At Chilliwack and Mission City many of them donned rubber trousers and worked in eight-hour shifts with the men in removing the household furniture to the rafts. A hundred rafts piled with furniture are waiting for tows. Five thousand volunteers and laborers are all working in the flooded district, but as yet they are making very little headway against the flood.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is running regularly, transferring by steamer traffic to the flooded districts. There are in the breaks and slides through the the Big Near the Kicking Horse Pass being delayed to walk for an hour and and surround mud slide before they Patrons connecting train. Pitt ing to 1000 acres of choice dyked land, see by Vancouver capitalists and held th weeks ago at $108 an acre, are now but and her receptacle for the vast tireless tide. Spuzzano Suspension Bridge, the pride of the people of Yale, is hanging on the side of an abyss, a mass of twisted and torn timbers and metal. The North Arm bridge, another fine structure, is far on its journey to the sea, being swept away yesterday. The railway officials are almost dis- gened as the results of the flood come in, bwire.

day Sir William C. Van Horne sent the following message to the divisional superintendent, Mr. Abbott: "Contribute $1000 towards the relief of the sufferers on the Frazer, and let me know what outside help is likely to be required." The number of persons rendered homeless by the floods is growing every hour, and a large sum of money will be required to provide provisions and quarters for them until they are able to shift for themselves.

later.—The last reports received are discouraging in the extreme. The water is still rising and driving the settlers further and further back.

The water is washing over one end of the Lulu Island dykes. This is the last dyke to hold on the Frazer River. It is feared it cannot hold. Should it give way factories and canneries to the value of half a million dollars will be destroyed. The people have not commenced to count the losses yet. They will wait for the end. Their losses, however, are appalling and Where is the man, woman or child who reads this paper who has not purchased goods in this store? It has been a Dry Goods Store for thirty years continuously. It has from its foundation been the leading Dry Goods Store. It has always sold good reliable goods. Its policy has never been to sell inferior goods to its customers in order to have it said "goods are cheap," although for a fact it is and always has been the cheapest store in Napanee. How often you hear the expression "If you want good Goods you must go to Robinson & Co." Why is this said? Because they have always sold the best goods, the most reliable goods, the goods that wear well, and look well, and give satisfaction, at prices that could not be beaten. Quality for quality, it has always sold the cheapest goods in Napanee. Besides the prices are as low as you pay others for ill-fitting shoddy goods.

Don't wait until these goods are all gone and then some and ask us "Where are such and such goods you advertised?" They won't last forever so come at once. The first part of this week we sold out two complete lines of Men's Suits, but there are lots here yet.

NAPANEE MILLS.

Election magnetism of the positive and negative nature prevails to an alarming extent in our village.

The unpropitious night of Friday last prevented many from listening to the interesting and instructive addresses of Messrs. S. Gibson and Rev. J. J. Rae, the theme being "How to make S. S. work more effective." Rev. Rae is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of progression in this line and plainly demonstrates the "how" and the intricate points of a lesson with a fineness of touch and vim alike pleasing and instructive to his audience. The residents and especially the superintendent, Mr. Howard, feel deeply indebted to the above mentioned gentlemen.

Standing second on a long list of successful students at the last legal examinations at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, we note, with pleasure, the name of Mr. A. Nugent. An Enjoyable Evening.

A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent at the residence of Mr. Jacob Robinson, Thomas street, on Tuesday evening of last week. Friends to the number of about twenty participated in an evening's amusement that passed only too quickly, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, games, etc. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock, and partaken of in a manner that showed the greatest compliment to Mrs. Robinson's cookery. LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—It's now going on five and thirty years since Duncan and I got married and during all that time no serious trouble to amount to anything has arisen to mar our married life, except at election time I admit we can't hold him, but only for a day or two. Duncan, I may say, is rather of a quiet disposition, a good church member and what you might call a good husband and father. Lately a change has come over his uneventful life—this bicycle craze has completely turned his head. Last spring I could notice him keeping the company of boys and lads, his usual companions were men of his own age. I kept wondering but dare not mention what was in my mind. Last week about a dozen boys and Duncan sat on the door stoop busy discussing the various points of bicycles, the merits and faults of different kinds of wheels, you could hear the words scored up to 64 ball bearings (whatever that means I know not.) However, the grand climax came. The other night in marched Duncan dressed up with short breeches, black stockings and boy's cap, and leading a bran new machine, a Comet he called it. Oh! my breath fairly left my body. What could I do or say? When I kindly rebuked Duncan (I do assure you Mr. Editor I was in no way cross tempered,) I tried to explain to him that a father of a grown up family and a grandfather at that, that it was unbecoming for him to be making a show of himself, a man 50 years of age. But dear oh dear my 50, was almost broke. I do really believe he is getting daft. He talked and talked about practicing for the relay race. What race, says I? Oh you stupid creature, don't you know, carrying dispatches in time of war, you women never did know anything or never will. I need not mention all he said as it would fill your paper. Never mind, thought I to myself, just wait until I get you in bed, if I don't give you a talking to, (you know, Mr. Editor, I can speak my mind better in bed than any where else.) But, would you believe it, off slipped Duncan to bed beside the grand child, who is visiting us. What am I to do, what can I do? I want your advice. Do you think I could get a divorce or a separation. This disgrace is one thing I cannot stand. I am ashamed to go down street, to think that an old man like Duncan would make a fool of himself. I look to you Mr. Editor for advice and guidance in this sore trial.

I am, yours truly,

MRS. DUNCAN McFARLANE,
Scoldville Cottage,
Deseronto.

We would advise Mrs. McFarlane to let Duncan have his fling. A few good falls will, we think, cure him of his folly. However, write us again. [Ed.]

TO THE PATRONS AND OTHER FARMERS.

MR. EDITOR,—There is a great misunderstanding throughout the country and especially in this riding respecting the aims and objects of the organization known as the Patrons of Industry. It is not a political organization as yet, although it has to do with political matters. Some seem to be under the impression that its main object is to distribute tea, sugar, hardware, etc., among the members of the lodges and thereby save the profits of the middle man, the town merchant. This sort of thing is done, it is true, in some instances, but that by no means is the chief end of the organization. The Patrons of Industry exist for the bettering of the condition of the farmer at large, wherever and however it may appear that his condition may be improved. It is not to be made the tool of any political party nor is it to be opposed to any political party unless that party is adopting a policy antagonistic to the interests of the farmer. The danger lies here—we are spending our strength now in opposing the Mowat administration without stopping for a moment to enquire what is to be gained by that opposition. I have studied the matter carefully from every standpoint and my conclusion is that the Dominion government wire-pullers are behind the entire movement. "Let 'em fight it out now and the grangers will have nothing left with which to fight when our turn comes," I heard one say. Here we are holding meetings, canvassing, getting subscriptions and taking upon our shoulders the responsibility of an election campaign, and when it is over down will come the Dominion government with another election and a new franchise about which we know nothing and where will we be? Of what has the farmer so bitterly complained during the last fifteen years? Has he at any time been the subject of adverse legislation by the Ontario government? Has any bitter wail gone up to Mowat from the farmer? I have heard of none. The farmers' troubles begin at Ottawa. It is there that we must look for relief. It is against the monopolists' legislators at Ottawa that we must wage our battles. That fiendish N.P. which has ground us in the dust must be wiped out. We are wasting our powder now, and our enemies are rejoicing to witness us fighting away while they are husbanding their strength for the real battle of freedom which we ought soon to be prepared for. Are we not being made tools of by the monopolists who stand by grinning and shouting "let 'em fight! let 'em fight!" Farmers, it is time we awakened to the real situation. Let us muster our forces, perfect our organizations, study the situation carefully and when the time comes, which will be before many months, we can then march on to Ottawa like one man demanding our rights, and then our wrongs will be set right. As for the present campaign I cannot but conclude that our best course is to leave matters as they are. The rat is at work in this election and unless I mistake the scent I can smell him, and if you could unearh him you would find an N.P. ribbon around his neck. Patrons, beware!
